FOSSFINEART is delighted to present this new collection of paintings by Catherine Hyde. The established artist is well known for her richly worked and atmospheric paintings and she has been described as ‘a visual poet weaving images, symbols and archetypes into paintings that resonate in the subconscious and linger there like half remembered dreams’.

The theme of her new collection focuses on imagery drawn from the rivers and marshlands of Cornwall and from ‘The song of wandering Aengus’ by W. B. Yeats. These dreamlike paintings are quiet, suggesting stories: tree lined river valleys filled with glimpses of hares, stags and owls and snow filled skies that thrill with the murmurations of starlings.

Catherine Hyde’s highly anticipated solo show The Silver Apples of the Moon at the newly refurbished Foss Fine Art in Battersea opens on Saturday 10 November.

The Dews Mist, Mixed Media, 30.5 x 30.5 cm

The Silver Fish, Mixed Media, 51 x 51 cm
